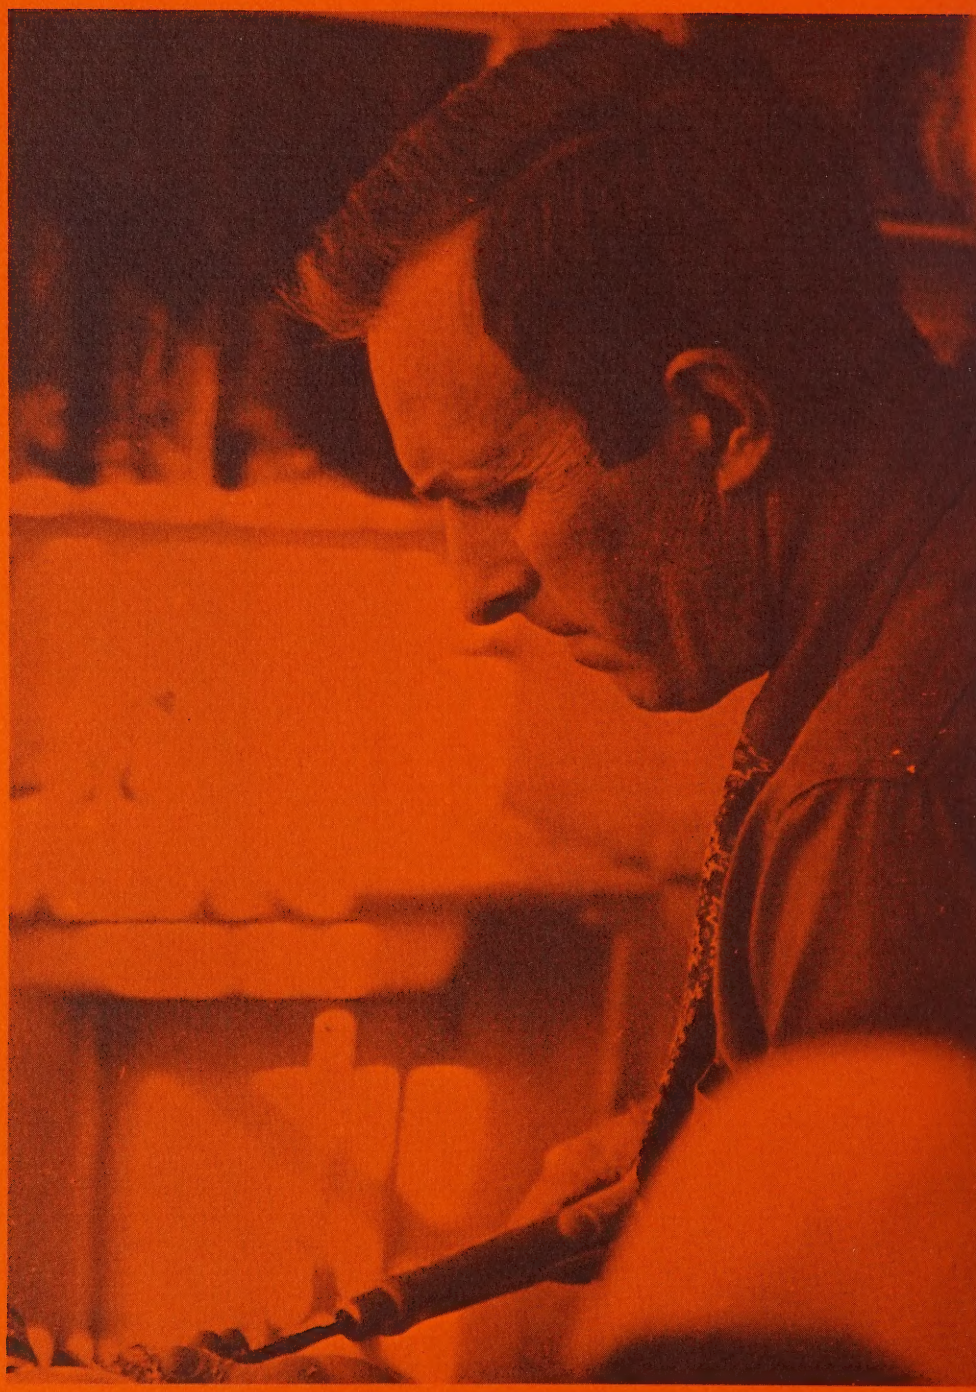
Would You Believe-
Two In A Row

His personable attitude, painstaking patience and tireless efforts have helped make Drexel High the school that it is. Perhaps some find this hard to believe but for the second straight year-the Teacher of the Year is the man with the new image-MR. JIM WRIGHT.



Words Can Not Express The. . .

Just Saying Thanks

Saying thanks to such a concerned and sincere man, as Mr. Ervin Hallyburton, is not enough to express our gratitude. His place on this page is expressing how much the students of Drexel High School appreciate the sincere dedication and friendliness radiated in Mr. Hallyburton.

Clark Combination Spells Success For Business

"Eyes on copy. Type!" echoes through the business room as students prepared for weekly timed writings. Although students were encouraged by Mrs. and Mr. Clark at first to type on the exploration level, speed with control was stressed in all business courses.

All typing basics were taught in the first year, while students planning to enter the field of business administration, either in college or on the job, embarked for a second year into the fascinating world of type-writers, calculators, and duplicators.

Employees of the "Hamilton Cake and Pastry Company" learned to type purchase orders, office memoes, and answer all correspondence coming into their respective "offices."

Across the hall and fifty-five minutes later, many of the same students prepared to encounter the mighty "tape recorder," a daily part of shorthand.

Early in the year students were introduced to their filing practice sets with which the shorthand classes increase and extend their filing knowledge.

Middle English Studied And Mastered

Pygmalion, the new practice of using every Friday as grammar day, English literature, which involved an "all star" cast recording of Beowulf, and a study of short stories started the Advanced English classes off to a fast year.

After studying Old English of Anglo-Saxon times, classes learned to speak Middle English. Philosophy, Camelot, films, and notebooks kept students busy both in and out of class. Helped by the arrival of new English books, the students of Mrs. McNeil's classes met the challenge of conquering the interesting, different material. Not only did they master a new book, they also read and studied the dramas Macbeth and Julius Caesar. Biweekly spelling tests summed up the overall picture of a typical English class.

After lunch while most students forged on into the second half of a school day, vocational students left campus to conquer the world of business. Traveling to different points throughout the country such as Rader's, Roses, and the Ham House, the students of DE and ICT go to their respective jobs.

Films, field trips, candy sales, and a gigantic Christmas drive to help the needy all combined to make Mr. Franklin's and Mr. Hildebran's classes exciting ones.

Adding to the enrichment of the Graphics Arts Department were visits in December to the Graphics Arts Department of Appalachian State University and to the Charlotte Merchandise Mart in March where representatives of different companies demonstrating varied types of machines.

Helping with the publication of material for the county such as the Lyceum, the Wolverine Scene, and report cards was the addition of a new Varityper.

On class discussions in sociology of social problems stemming from marriage, drugs and alcoholism were conducted and sometimes referred by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Hemphill. Even though term papers and book reports lie dormant in the back of each student's mind as he entered the world of economics and sociology, every benefit derived from these courses continues with us as we face the haunting world of tomorrow.

DHS and the French Department gained a new teacher, Mr. McGimsey, a 1970 graduate of the University of North Carolina brought with him an excitingly different year, one packed with ventures into France of long ago. The story of a struggle through a French novel, daily mental battles with grammar, and an arm full of albums containing many popular American songs sung in French.

Viewing of the play Tartuffe by Moliere gave students a taste of French satire. The play was in English, and had a Southern setting. Also adding to the enrichment of French students was the annual Christmas caroling. Everybody loves a party. French students are no exception to this rule. Trips to the Burke County Fair and the Village Inn allowed the students to really get to know their new teacher.

Always struggling with Physics experiments, trigonometric graphs, and independent research, math students found Mr. Robinson's humor helpful.

Our mathematical "castle" was built on a foundation of general math and Algebra I classes, a first tier of Geometry pupils, a second tier of Algebra II students, and a lofty tower comprised of Physics and Advanced math scholars.

DHS Acquired Full Time Counselor

E

Fact: One does not cut up in Driver's Ed. Not in the six weeks written course nor in the car, it just is not done. Whether its his appealing personality or the sight of Mr. Roper's biceps has yet to be determined. Beginning with parallel parking, moving on to city traffic, and then finally progressing to driving on interstate. Driver's Education is one class one had better not forget. With the beginning of the new school year, Drexel High gained a full time guidance counselor. Though not a new face in the halls, Mrs. Gregory, has added much to DHS.

F

A-Mrs. Hollifield rushes to help another girl bewildered by guide sheet directions.
B-Mrs. Hollifield disgustingly removes stitches from crooked seam for Home Ec I pupil.
C-Mrs. Siphers gives special attention to the French Horn section.
D-Mrs. Siphers "doing her thing."
E-Joe Eddy Roper flashes grin to ease tension in Driver's Ed. class.
F-Advice with a smile is Mrs. Gregory's motto.

D.H.S.'s Administrative Team

A

Who's Who? If anyone can answer this question it is Mrs. Epley and Coach Shull. Although DHS has a small enrollment, the job of record keeping is not easy. It is Margaret's job to keep such tedious records straight. The Coliseum, alias gym, is ruled with a strong stick by Coach Shull. Those who enter its doors are soon to find this out.

Student Council Sets New Style In Dress

Under the leadership of the only lady president in Drexel High within the last decade, the fair sex of the school were finally allowed to wear whatever they pleased.

Another improvement by the Council was a new system of voting for all major elections in the school. The new procedure was designed to acquaint the students with voting procedure used when the eighteen-year olds get to vote. Students were required to register and then vote during designated times of the day.

Vica And Deca Help Needy In Area

Combining their efforts this year the very active Vica and Deca Clubs collected toys, food and clothes for underpriviledged children in the surrounding community. Earlier in the year the clubs held candy sales and had great success.

Paper Staff Adds Pep And Color

Vivacious cheering from our Pep Club and the coverage of that spirit and vitality from the Paper Staff helps students become more involved in school activities.

Bus Drivers Refreshed Memory

Sparked by the presence of a new International bus, the honkin' appearance of another, and that minor detail known as checks, the Drexel Bus Driver's Club got off to a "clutching start".

A first for the bus drivers was a refresher course given in November by Mr. Woodall. Though most of the day was spent laughing at one another, the time was well spent and will become an annual outing for the club.

Two driver's attempt to put everyone in the Christmas spirit and an eventful party given by Mr. Hallyburton made the year worth remembering.

Being one of the most active clubs in our school was the goal of Mr. McGimsey and Mrs. Pittman, French Club leaders.

Club members went bowling, attended the movies, enjoyed a French restaurant, and Christmas caroled on the streets of Drexel.

F.T.A. Learns Value Of Teaching

Guided with the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Sutton and officers, the Future Teachers of America was established again this year through teaching labs and reading of reports. With June Roupe as president, the Future Homemakers of America lived an exciting year participating in many contests between local schools.

To develop their skills even further, the Industrial and Graphic Arts clubs met monthly to work on projects.

C

Community wide projects again were preeminent with the Beta Club of DHS. Members of the organization collected clothing and toys for the White Christmas project. These donations were distributed to five needy families in the surrounding area. Conventions were also on the year's business agenda. Betas attended the Northwestern District meeting as part of the program of group discussions on the population explosion, the world community and the draft. This meeting saw Drexel Beta, Cindy Rector, elected vice-president of the district. In the spring of the year the Beta members travelled to the State Convention. Under leadership of Mrs. Julia Pittman and club president Dan Hoyle these experiences proved fruitful.

Camelot: Third Musical Production

Chorus Performed In Camelot

A delightful Christmas program as well as a splendid performance in the Spring Concert highlighted a unique school year with the Drexel Chorus. Participation in the school's production of CAMELOT also involved the chorus. .

Band Entertained At Gardner Webb

After another Superior at Bristol, the band was ready for something different. They entertained for the students at Boiling Springs during halftime of the Gardner Webb-Elon game. Prior to this appearance they performed at every home football game. Also spiced by the band were the Homecoming parade and ceremony. With hard work from the members and the firm push from Miss Siphers the band added to its collection of trophies and plaques.

Presenting The Queen . . .

After being chosen Miss Junior-Hi Miss last year, vivacious Libby Setzer was voted Miss Homecoming 1970-71. Cheers arose from the field as co-captains Mike Harris and Malone McNeely donned Libby with her crown. Tears of joy filled the eyes of Drexel's young beauty as she was driven around the field for the last glance by the thrilled spectators. To recapture this thrill the staff appropriately presents Libby Setzer in beautiful color for DHS's beautiful queen.

Cagers Showed Flashes Of Brilliance

During the 1970–71 season, our Wolverine cagers showed flashes of brilliance and moments of mediocrity. They set a new conference scoring record, scorching the nets for 98 points at NCSD and were among the conference leaders in team defense. Headed by senior co-captains, Keith Berry and Mike Harris, this year's Wolve basketball team consisted of: Seniors-Dan Hoyle, Glenn Watts, and Earl Caldwell-Juniors- Dennis Hamrick, Sam Griffin and Mike Jackson- Sophomores- Mike Waters, Roy Williams and David Scronce. Berry led the team in scoring and rebounding and sophomore Mike Waters poured in 39 points for a new school and individual record.

Experienced Sophomores Display Leadership

The Sophomores, confident and experienced in the way of life, contributed greatly to the activities at Drexel. Their participation in sports and clubs improved the qualities of our school to ourselves and to any of our contacts. These Sophomores are eager, and indeed they should be, tc accept the responsibilities of Juniors.

Juniors Set New Sales Record

For the third straight year, the Junior Class has set a new record for magazine sales. With a grand total of $3,403.00, the Junior Class this year has set the highest record ever. High School rings were ordered by the juniors this year in November and were received in March, thus creating a new tradition at Drexel High School.
